

Do not allow the laws surrounding the Do Not Call list to be changed giving companies more power to harass us.

Before the Do Not Call list, I would receive 20-30 calls a day at home. Many solicitors would be from the same company calling 2-3 times a day. Telling them "not to call" was useless. Calls are reduced to maybe 1 or 2 a week and they don't keep calling.

Solicitations started coming in on my business line and I added my number to the do not call list. That reduced to ZERO.

My cell number was also a problem with calls. My minutes racking up every month with telemarketers and trying to be polite about it. The calls stopped within 2 weeks of adding the cell# to the Do Not Call list.

People who do not want to be bothered, should not be subject to the ongoing harassment of solicitors.
